416 students enroll as Bryan's year opens

Four hundred sixteen students - some of those part-time - enrolled at Bryan College for the 1991 fall semester, and a "large increase" in the prison program has brought the total student enrollment to 569, Dr. Hanna reports.

Campus students represent 29 states and six foreign countries. In addition, American nationals who live in 12 foreign countries, have enrolled, Registrar Barbara Howard says.

Returning students found the Lions Den in turmoil when they arrived on campus, as finishing touches for the long-awaited renovation had not been completed. Otherwise, physically, the campus hadn't changed much over the summer.

But Provost Dr. Bill Brown is particularly excited about two new programs which are being implemented.

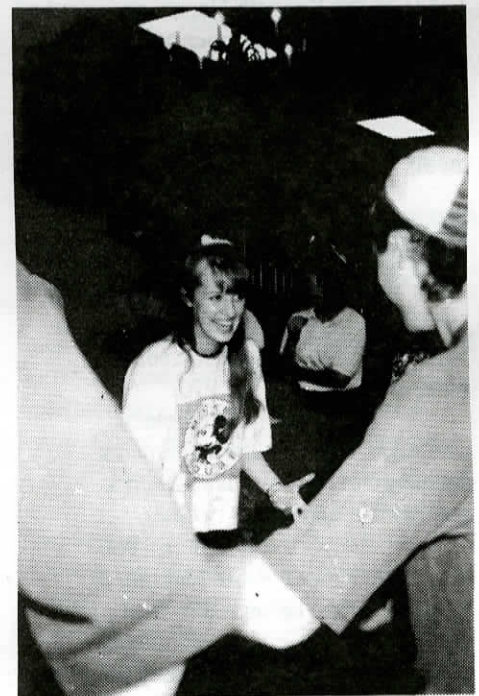

Early in October, Dr. Alan Johnson, a Bryan alumnus who now teaches at Wheaton College where he also directs the Center of Applied Ethics, presented a seminar for faculty members on integrating ethics components into course offerings.

The seminar, funded by a Pew Charitable Grant, was designed to help professors raise ethical issues in their classes. For example, an American history class might look at some decisions made during the Civil War from an ethical standpoint, or a biology class might discuss a topic such as genetic engineering from an ethical standpoint.

"We want to raise ethical sensitivities and values among students, so that, while they might not have a formal class in ethics, when they graduate

Bryan training leaders to meet confidence crisis

by Kenneth G. Hanna

America is solidly gripped by a crisis of confidence.

The economy is struggling unsuccessfully to recover healthy growth. Analysts blame it on a loss of consumer confidence. Massive layoffs continue in once-thriving corporations. People are fearful of their jobs and reluctant to spend the money that would boost the economy and create new jobs.

Reports of abuse of the House banking privileges and the bitter debate over the confirmation of Justice Clarence Thomas have damaged confidence in the political process - and the people who control it. Incumbents, once untouchable, are now at risk as elections approach.

The spectacle of televangelists caught in a web of sexual immorality and financial crimes has destroyed the confidence of many in the church. Though religious interest is up, church loyalty is down.

Education is not exempt from the crisis. Study after study reminds us that America is no longer number one in the industrialized world. Some argue we are in danger of dropping out of the race altogether. Many lack confidence that our schools could deliver quality even if cost were not a factor.

All of this is enough to drive people to despair about the future. Prophets of doom abound, and they have a growing audience. Research has already documented a dramatic change. Today's children and youth are losing faith in the future.

* Forty-four percent of American children under 12 worry that a nuclear war may keep them from becoming teenagers.

* Among teenagers (averaging 17 years of age), fear that the U.S. is steadily going downhill worries 33 percent of them.

* Sixty-two percent think their lives will be harder than those of their parents.

The crisis of confidence is robbing the next generation of the energy and creativity so desperately needed. Youth is normally overflowing with anticipation and enthusiasm. When you are young, opportunity abounds. Obstacles are only minor inconveniences, mere steppingstones on the road to success. When that confidence is lost, the future of the nation is at risk.

America needs leadership now more than ever - men and women of character who live by and up to their convictions; people who put service above self, who measure life by what they give, not by what they get. The good news is that they are still with us. Among today's youth are many who believe they can make a difference. Bryan students are in that select band.

The mission of Bryan College is to educate servants of Christ to make a difference in today's world. (If they serve today, they will lead tomorrow). That mission is rooted in our heritage.

William Jennings Bryan wrote: "If one desires to collect largely from society he must be prepared to render a large service to society; and our schools and colleges, our churches and all other organizations for the improvement of man have for one of their chief objects the enlargement of the capacity of service."

The pages of Scripture abound with examples of men and women who made a difference. Moses heeding the call of God to lead a nation of slaves to freedom. Jonathan going alone against the army of the Philistines, saying, "Perhaps the Lord will act in our behalf. Nothing can hinder the Lord from saving whether by many or by few." (I Sam 14:6). Paul voicing hope when all on board their storm-battered ship had abandoned all hope of rescue, "Keep your courage, men, for I believe God, it will turn out exactly as I have been told." (Acts 27:25)

These are heroes I have been bringing before students in chapel this year. People who acted against the odds who acted out of faith, not fear. Men and women who had confidence that one person, with God, could make a difference.

As a friend of Bryan, will you pray with me for America to come to grips with this crisis of confidence. It does touch all of us deeply, including Bryan College. Then pray for God to provide for and empower this generation of Bryan students to make a difference for and with Christ.

Providence College honors Dr. Hanna

Providence College and Seminary has named its main building in honor of Dr. Kenneth Hanna, president of Bryan College and former president of the Canadian institution.

The Hanna Centre houses the educational and administrative departments of the college.

Dr. Hanna was associated with the school, then known as Winnipeg Bible College, for 17 years, including 13 years as president. During his tenure he led efforts to relocate the college from Winnipeg to its present site some 35 miles from the city in 1970.

After moving to the new campus, Dr. Hanna implemented a campaign to raise funds to build a gymnasium and student center.

He left the school in 1980, moving to Moody Bible Institute in Chicago where he served as vice president and dean of education before assuming the Bryan presidency in 1986.

Providence College and Seminary announced the honor for Dr. Hanna during a recent dinner when the school's name change was formally introduced. Dr. Hanna was speaker for the event, although he was not aware he was to be recognized.

What the faculty is doing...

Mrs. Marcy Froemke spoke about "Hymns" during a Sunday evening service at Dayton's First United Methodist Church in May. She also was a judge for the CMTA piano auditions in Chattanooga and adjudicated for the Piano Guild in Lakeland, Fla., in May.

Dr. Hanna and Dr. David Luther ministered at South Baptist Church in Lansing, Mich., in September. Dr. Luther conducted a workshop on Saturday and sang at both Sunday services. Dr. Hanna also traveled to Atlanta and Augusta, Ga., and Winnipeg, Canada (see separate story).

Mrs. Rachel Morgan attended the Tennessee Speech Communication Association meeting at Natchez Trace State Park in September.

College host for 5,000-plus during conferences

Bryan College was a home away from home for more than 5,200 visitors this summer, the third year for the college to open its campus to visiting groups.

From a high attendance of 936 with TEAM's (The Evangelical Alliance Mission) 101st annual Bible and Missionary Conference to a camp session for 36 young people from a Florida church, the summer staff did whatever was necessary to make the visitors feel welcome - and present an "up close and personal" look at what makes Bryan College special.

Dean Ropp, director of campus life and activities, said the summer conference program addresses several needs, among them use of the facilities, thereby generating revenue as well as employment for nearly 10 percent of the students, and promoting the college. "The best way to promote Bryan is let people see our students," he said. "It's one thing to have students get up and say they love Bryan at a banquet, but it's another thing to see students smiling all week long while they are doing hard, menial work.

"They work hard and have a TEAM (The Evangelical Alliance Mission) brought more than 900 persons to Bryan's campus this summer for the mission's 101st Bible and Missionary Conference. This was the largest group to use the college's facilities during the summer, when more than 5,000 persons came for periods ranging from a day to a week.

great attitude. People see it and appreciate it."

As TEAM General Director Dr. Richard Winchell said in a letter to the conference staff, "How can we thank you enough for the way in which you cared for us while we were at Bryan College? It was a delightful experience, and we were more than impressed with the kindness and helpfulness of your people....Everything went very smoothly, and we thank you. I'm sure there was an immense amount of work that you did behind the scenes that none of us ever saw...."

In addition, the conference program gives the admissions staff another opportunity to present the case for having young people attend Bryan. Already, Ropp said, several young people from groups which normally do not send many students Bryan's way have enrolled at the college largely because of the time they spent on campus for a summer conference.

Ropp is expecting many of the 1991 groups to return next summer, although the 1992 TEAM conference already had been scheduled for another location.

"This was our fullest summer yet," Ropp said. "It will be difficult to duplicate. It was amazing how the Lord weaved all those groups together. On the same day one group would leave and another would come in, sometimes with a couple hours overlapping. It was just what we needed this summer."

U.S. Senate chaplain speaks at banquet

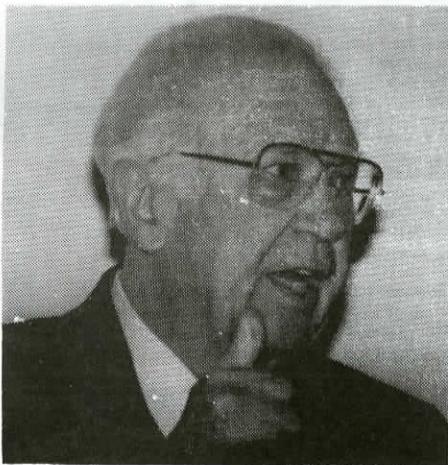

'Him we proclaim' should be church's message

To be what it should be, the evangelical church needs to return to the message of the apostles - "Him we proclaim," the chaplain of the United States Senate said during Bryan's trustees' banquet Oct. 7.

Dr. Richard Halverson spoke to nearly 300 trustees, staff and friends of the college, as well as prospective students and their parents.

In Christ, he said, quoting Hebrews 1, is found everything. "Christ is our righteousness. Christ is our wisdom. Christ is our sanctification. Christ is our redemption. Christ is our truth. Christ is our life. Christ is our way. He is the everything from Genesis to Revelation.

"The deepest concern of my heart is the way we have allowed evangelical tradition to take us away from the truth as it is in Jesus Christ. I've been with the Senate nearly 11 years. To say

I'm embarrassed with the impact of the evangelical community...it breaks my heart.

Dr. Halverson said the evangelical church is becoming too concerned with being "relevant" to society and with "marketing" the gospel, whereas Jesus and the apostles simply preached the truth.

"To preach anything less than Christ is to fail of the mission of the church He planted and is building in the world."

He said that only by being possessed with Christ can an individual truly be what God intended.

"What more than Christ do we need? Christ plus anything is heresy.

"This is the apostolic message He gave the church He is building. Anything else is inadequate by infinity. How desperately the world needs to see and hear that incredible person, Jesus Christ, instead of all this junk evangelicals are trying to foist on the world.

He said that the struggle by the church to be "relevant" is making the church more and more like the world.

"We preach Christ. Let's quit trying to do better than the apostles."

He also praised Bryan College and similar schools for offering an educational program for the whole person - spiritual, physical, intellectual and social - similar to that Jesus received.

"Luke 2:52 says that Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and favor with God and man. Wisdom, he grew intellectually. Stature, he grew physically. Favor with God, he grew spiritually. Favor with man, he grew socially.

"Only Christian schools have that kind of education. State schools address the physical, intellectual and social, but the only schools in America providing an education like Jesus had are schools like Bryan."

Part-time staff adds to instructional program

Several part-time faculty members have been appointed for the fall semester. They include:

Roy Barger, a Bryan alumnus living in of Dayton, teaches guitar in the music department. He and his wife, Linda, have two children, Monika and Jakob.

Susan Bracken has two part-time jobs at the college, as director of career placement and services and a library assistant. She and her husband, Everett, a current student, live in Dayton.

Jeff Dennison is an instructor of engineering graphics. He and his wife, Ruth, live in Dayton.

Gordon Hall of Soddy-Daisy and news director for Moody Radio affiliate WMBW in Chattanooga, is teaching introduction to audio production this fall. He and his wife, Sue, are the parents of Katy and Megan.

Gilbert Moore Jr. teaches English at the college. He and his wife, Ruth, live in Chattanooga.

Michele Short has joined the staff as an accounts payable clerk in the business office. She and her husband, Stephen, live in Dayton and have a daughter, Tabitha.

'The memory of the righteous will be a blessing.'

How to make a gift larger than you imagined

The mission of Bryan College is to shape servants of Christ for Today's world. Bryan alumni and friends play a major role in ensuring that this mission continues to be a reality at Bryan through their faithful prayers and regular gift support.

Another way of helping to ensure the future ministry of Bryan College until the Lord returns is to increase the size of Bryan's Endowment Fund.

Just what are "endowment funds?" They are funds which are not used for current operations but are set aside and invested. The principle is not spent' only earnings are used to help meet current operating needs.

Bryan's Endowment Fund is small - about $800,000. For the most part the result of generous bequests, the Endowment Fund consists primarily of scholarships which in turn provide financial assistance to deserving students. Increasing the size of Bryan's endowment will help to ensure that a quality, Christ-centered Bryan education is available - and affordable - for many years to come.

Now, through a unique gifting program called EndowmentPLUS, an individual has an opportunity to ensure appropriate funds for the future...even reaching beyond one's own lifetime. A contribution made to Bryan College is used to create a specially designated endowment insurance policy in amounts from $2,000 to $100,000.

- * Any individual age 18 to 65 can enroll.
- * Your contribution is fully tax-deductible.
- * There are no insurance forms to fill out or health questions to answer.
- * An affordable contribution becomes a substantial gift.
- * You may use the endowment to honor a loved one.
- * Your generosity helps both now and in the future.

To answer some questions you may have...

Q: Does my gift help during my lifetime?

A: Yes. Donors do not have to pass on before benefits are received. You are creating an Endowment - PLUS you are helping meet current operating needs. Approximately 25 percent of each contribution is an "extra cash gift" which is available for current operating needs. The remaining 75 percent of each contribution is sent to the insurance company to purchase the endowment policy. Also, cash values can be used should it prove wise and necessary.

Q: Will this program diminish the funds available for current operations?

A: No. Ideally, your contribution for endowment will be in addition to your existing support.

Q: What happens if I can't meet my five-year commitment?

A: In the event that you cannot complete your five-year commitment, the policy can be converted to a smaller endowment. You will still be creating a gift much larger than your actual contribution.

Q: Are FULL EndowmentPLUS benefits available to Bryan College immediately upon enrollment?

A: Yes, if death occurs from accidental bodily injury. However, if death occurs during the first two policy years from other causes, only the premium payments plus interest will be returned to Bryan. After two years, full benefits are paid for death by any cause.

Soccer team working for district berth

Bryan's soccer program is looking up!

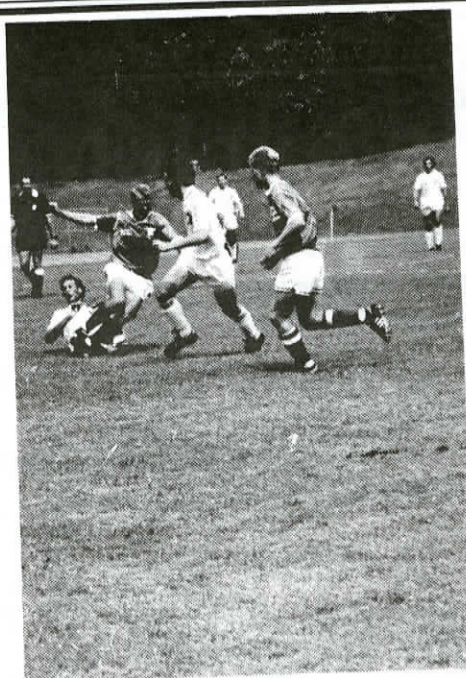

Through early October, the Lions had compiled a 6-5-1 record, surpassing last year's record of 4-10-1.

Eight new freshmen and transfer students plus several key returning players combined to form a competitive team, Coach Sandy Zensen said. Though injuries hampered the Lions throughout the season, the team remained in the hunt for an NAIA District 24 playoff berth. Wins were recorded over Belmont, Warren Wilson, Toccoa Falls, Milligan, Cumberland and nationally ranked Lee College (2-1).

NCCAA All America midfielder and team captain Mike Pratt continues to direct the attack and support the defense.

Pratt is joined at mid-field by transfer Donald Dass, from Trinidad, whose ball-handling skills have frustrated many an opponent. Seniors Marc Neddo (keeper) and Doug Mann (forward/mid-fielder), provide experience, stability and leadership for a young team.

The Lions have been led in scoring by Paul Jarrett (seven goals), a freshman from Valrico, Fla. Defensively the team is anchored by another Florida freshman, Matt Hufford. Hufford fills the sweeper position intelligently and possesses the physical tools to get the job done, Coach Zensen said.

Transfer student Matt Bryan and freshman Jeff DeArman, along with returning players Jeff Barkman and Steve Prout round out a much-improved defense.

Other newcomers making significant contributions to the success of the team are Troy Orndoff, a speedy midfielder, and striker Joey Johnson. Johnson was expected to carry the scoring responsibilities for the Lions, but early season injuries have kept him mostly out of the action.

Coach Zensen expects the improvements to continue. "We've surprised some teams this year," he said. "We improved our technical and tactical abilities. We are moving up.

"Another good recruiting year and we'll be formidable!"

Men's basketball team has new look this year

The 1991-92 men's basketball team has a new look.

In addition to new Head Coach Morris Michalski, the team has eight freshman and one new junior on the 15-member squad.

"The schedule is tough, the program is young, the attitude is great," Coach Michalski said in assessing the coming season. "Industriousness and enthusiasm are cornerstones to everything we do. This edition is a very smart, teachable, classy bunch. If they grow up in a hurry, Bryan will have a good chance to radically rebound from a 7-26 record of last season."

And, he added, "Alumni, pray for the program, and send help,"

Michalski is assisted by Coach Scott Gravitt, a member of the Class of '93

Of the six returning players, seniors Everett Bracken and Brian are expected to lead the team on and off the court.

In the team's first challenge of the season - during the Homecoming Alumni game - the team lived up to the challenge as the current team beat the alumni.

Freshman Jason Martinez and junior newcomer Mark Smith combined for 54 points and 23 rebounds in that contest as the young Lions outdistanced an alumni team made up of past Lion legends including Dean Ropp, Rick Torbett, Ronnie Cox, Dwayne Shanley, Greg Vandergrift, Terry Copeland, Greg Barkman and Dave Zuberer. The alumni were coached by longtime Lion Coach Wayne Dixon. Cox was named alumni Most Valuable Player.

Athletic Director Sandy Zensen added that "We are looking forward to a good season and a positive experience for our student athletes. We're on track. Basketball is back."

Thoughts from Sandy

On the Sidelines

by Dr. Sandy Zensen

The other day someone handed me a newspaper article about Thurman Thomas, the running back for the Buffalo Bills and one of the NFL's top rushers.

His story may carry an important message for every current and former Bryan College athlete.

Thomas played his college football at Oklahoma State. It is reported that he recently gave $125,000 to Oklahoma State's athletic department, plus a life insurance policy which will give his alma mater $750,000 when he dies.

When questioned about his generous gift, he said, "It's an opportunity for me to give back to the university because they gave me four great years here. I love this university."

Love is always demonstrated by caring, supportive action. Love gives.

The message and challenge is obvious. "Go thou and do likewise!" Give something back to Bryan College and the athletic department for the "four great years here."

Here you were stretched intellectually and truth was implanted in your mind and soul by faithful teachers. Here you were fully prepared to meet the demands of your chosen profession and ministry.

Here you found your life's mate or at least you determined what you wanted in a relationship. Here you learned how to question, think and make decisions. Here you began to discover how to live in a secular world.

Here you developed courage and strength of character and integrity. Here you learned obedience, discipline and the importance of priorities. Here you were required to wrestle with the greater issues of life, death and eternity.

Here you repeatedly met with God in quiet and in public. Here you were influenced by the Holy Spirit through the ministry of godly men and women to respond positively to the call of God and the lordship of Christ.

To whom much is given, much is required. Bryan College has given you "four great years here."

Love. Give back...as God provides, as God directs.

SPORTS COLLECTORS

* Denotes doubleheader with men's team

● Women's goal to present Christ

by Suzene Solomon

This year's Lady Lions Volleyball team, under the guidance of first-year Coach Camille Ratledge, has been called a different team.

This is one of three goals Ratledge set for the team at the beginning of the season. She wanted other teams to realize that there was something different about the Lady Lions--they are Christians. The other goals were that the team would complete the season with no major injuries and that every time they stepped out onto the court they would put Christ first. All three goals have been met.

Ratledge has been pleased with the positive attitude and performance of such a young and inexperienced team. The team's record stands at 10 wins and 18 losses with one tournament left to be played. Ratledge has faith in the women. She said, "No matter what I told them to do, they did it. If I told them to go through a wall, they would. God is looking for young men and women who are willing to go out on a limb for Him. If they would go through a wall for a sport, how much more will they do for their Lord."

Jerri Beck, the team's only senior, emerged as one of the most outstanding leaders the volleyball team had all year, according to Ratledge. "She gave a 110 percent every time she played. She never complained, even when forced to sit out of competition due to a minor injury." Ratledge also gives credit to the freshmen, saying that they all made a big impact at one point in the season. The highlight of the season was a match against Milligan College. "We played at our best," said Ratledge. "Each person gave it all they had." The match went to five games before Bryan fell to Milligan.

Ratledge will pull double duty by also coaching the women's basketball team. This year's team is definitely young, but with a lot of hard work and determination I expect to compete with the best teams in the district, Ratledge said.

Women's basketball will have goals similar to those for the volleyball team. These goals are for other teams to know the Lady Lions are different; complete the season without injuries; and that every player will give 110 percent and by doing so have the record reflect this combined effort.

While it is too early to determine the top players on this year's Lady Lions basketball squad, Ratledge has singled out seniors Tami Miller and Jerri Beck as team leaders. She expects both will provide the team with the necessary motivation and stability.

Ratledge said she believes it is important that the ladies know who they are playing for and that their talent is a gift from God. She believes that each time one of the Lady Lions steps onto the court, whether in volleyball or basketball, they are a living Bible.

And for some, the only Bible they will ever see is a Lady Lion.

New Year

they will have been exposed to these concerns across the spectrum of the course work," Dr. Brown explained.

And early in November, the college will host the first of what is hoped to be an annual Science Bowl for students in Christian high schools in the Southeast.

This will be patterned after other academic competitions, where students answer "toss-up" questions, but this will be limited to science.

"We hope to have six to eight schools represented for this first Science Bowl," Brown said. "On Friday there will be a round table discussion with faculty members, and on Saturday we will have the competition. The members of the winning team will receive a $1,000 scholarship to Bryan, and there will be prizes for the other teams."

Preparations begin for accreditation review during 1993

This year, too, the college faculty and staff is beginning preparation for its accreditation review in 1993. "There is a lot of work which has to be done before the accreditation team arrives," Dr. Brown said. "Accreditation is very important to us, so this will be a major effort over the next couple of years."

Dean Ropp, director of campus life and activities, said the year started off with a successful spiritual life conference, featuring music and messages by John Fischer. "He told us to ask, seek and knock. The moment you become a Christian isn't the end of using your mind but only the beginning of asking, seeking and knocking. God is a big God and there is so much of him to get to know."

An experiment tried during the Spring 1991 semester was made a part of the regular program this fall. Every other Friday, instead of a regular chapel service, the student body has been broken down into groups of 10 for Bible study, prayer and encouragement. "It has been good so far," Ropp said, "but we are continuing to evaluate this."

Another change for students is in the Day of Prayer schedule. "Instead of having a guest speaker speak twice on the Day of Prayer, he will come in and speak twice on the day before and once on the Day of Prayer," Ropp explained. "This way, all three talks will be preparation for the Day of Prayer. We hope the full Day of Prayer will be exactly that." Allister Begg, Scottish conference speaker and pastor of The Chapel in Solon, Ohio, is scheduled to speak at the November Day of Prayer, and Wayne Barber, pastor of Woodland Park Baptist Church in Chattanooga, Tenn., is to speak at the February Day of Prayer.

Introducing... Bryan's Presidential Scholars

Lions Den has new look as students return

Finishing touches are being made to the Lions Den renovation project this fall, the first face-lift for the student lounge in nearly 20 years.

Jim Barth, director of services and facilities, said the idea for the Lions Den project began developing about three years ago, when college officials realized improvements were needed.

In June, Barth reported to the Board of Trustees that something needed to be done. The trustee building and grounds committee looked at the Lions Den and agreed to the project, he said. "One board member pledged $20,000 for the project if we could match that. Then Stuart Meissner, vice president for advancement, and President Hanna initiated the matching gift plan in the summer."

After the final summer conference ended, crews began removing the old carpeting - two layers including one which was glued to the floor and columns - ceiling tiles and lights.

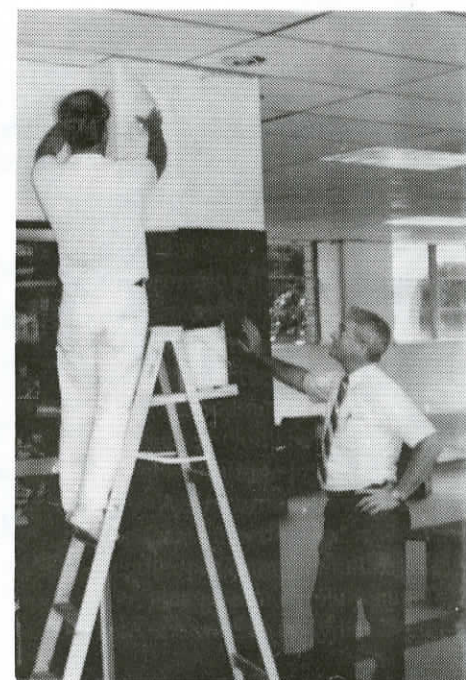

In the "new" Lions Den, burgundy and slate blue carpeting covers the floors and dove gray wallpaper has been installed over the existing wood panelling. New, energy-efficient lighting also has been installed.

Barth said the trustees have given almost $30,000, Bryan Women's Auxiliary donated $3,750 and alumni, students, parents and other friends of the college have provided the additional money.

He said that he would still like to replace the furniture in the Lions Den when funds are available.

The "old" Lions Den became the "new" Lions Den as a result of a major overhaul, the first in nearly 20 years this summer. Workers stripped two layers of carpet off the floor, a layer off the columns and replaced it with new slate blue carpeting. The project was funded by a challenge grant from one member of the board of trustees and gifts from Bryan Women's Auxiliary and interested alumni, students and friends. The Lions Den is pictured at left as it looked after the carpet had been removed and, at right, as finishing touches were being made to one of the columns.

BWA supports Lions Den renovation

Bryan Women's Auxiliary accomplished several things in making its contribution to the Lions Den renovation project.

The group's regular activities - providing cakes and fruit baskets for students - produced some of the money, but they branched out into other areas to raise the total.

When the college replaced used mattresses from the dormitories, college officials gave the old mattresses to BWA to sell.

And after Mrs. Mercer Clementson died this year BWA conducted a garage sale to dispose of items from the house on Faculty Circle.

Faculty, staff appointments reported for fall

Several additions have been made to the Bryan faculty and staff this fall. Among new faces at the college are:

Tom Davis, who has joined the Bryan College staff as director of public information.

His wife, Susan (Waddell), and sister, Alice Davis, are members of the Class of 1974, and his brother and sister-in-law, John (X-'78) and Kathy (Kinsey) Davis (X-'79), also attended Bryan.

Davis has more than 15 years experience as a newspaper reporter and editor. He holds BA and MA degrees in Journalism from the University of South Carolina, and taught the newspaper workshop at Bryan in 1984-85.

"I'm impressed with what is going on at the college and am excited about what the Lord is going to do for and with this school," Davis said. "I'm looking forward to being a part of the effort to get the word out about what's happening on Bryan Hill."

Dr. Walter Emanuel, who comes to Bryan as assistant professor of education after recently completing his Ed.D at Memphis State University.

"Bryan was totally unknown to me as far as a Christian school which fit the mold I was looking for," he said. "I didn't know the fullness of the school until it was down to the wire when I needed a job."

"I talked with Ken Froemke and Bill Brown, and when I received the literature it blew me away. The front cover of the catalogue has a cross on it, and when I saw it, I wept. When I read the statements by Dr. Hanna, it was exactly what I had to have. It met every prerequisite I had, and my heart's desires as well."

Dr. Emanuel holds the doctor of education degree from Memphis State University and bachelors and masters degrees from Texas A&M University.

He owned a business for 15 years in Bryan, Texas, and Memphis, Tenn., and has experience as a middle school industrial arts and adult education teacher and as a manager in industry.

Maxie Green of Soddy-Daisy, Tenn., who has taken the position of director of computer information services at Bryan this fall. He holds BA and MA degrees from the University of Tennessee and attended Bryan for two years.

"I'm an alumnus of the school and have had ties with the school for a long time," Green said. "I've had a secret desire that when I retired from public education I could find a place at Bryan.

"When I started thinking about retiring in the spring, Rick Rieder (vice president for business) called and asked if I knew of someone in education familiar with computers. I said, 'Yes, me.'" Not long after, he found his place at Bryan.

Green retired after 32 years with the Hamilton County Department of Education, where he served as a teacher, principal and coordinator of computer education. His responsibilities included coordinating the Writing to Read program for kindergarten and first graders and coordinating the data management systems and MECC (Minnesota Educational Computing Corporation) software for the system.

Laura Kaufmann, who has joined the library staff as a technical assistant. As such, she is responsible for many behind-the-scenes activities such as cataloguing books and ordering maga-

Pucketts selected Alumni of Year

Homecoming '91 began with the Recognition Dinner in the tent. The weatherman threatened us again with changeable weather but overall the weather did not interfere with the activities.

The 1991 Alumni of the Year were presented as well as six Honorary Alumni. Bryan's Chamber Singers led our program and the new Bryan College promotional video was introduced by President Hanna.

After the dinner the women's volleyball team treated us to victories over league opponents, including Tennessee Temple, and then showed their skills to the Alumni women with another win. The evening concluded in the newly remodeled LION'S DEN with an ice cream social. During the dinner it was reported that the challenge grant of $20,000 to remodel the LION'S DEN was only $1,650 from being matched completely, and alumni were asked to help push the total over the top. If you were unable to attend and wish to have a part in the remodeling, we will be happy to receive your gift.

Classes of '51, '61, '71 meet on campus

Representatives from each of the reunion classes assembled on Bryan Hill for Alumni Weekend reunions. The weekend overlapped with Bryan's Bible Conference so some alumni were already here. The class of '81 had the largest group and their numbers included many prospective students for the early part of the 21st Century.

Joel Kettenring, '51, and David Egner, '61, presidents of their respective classes, led their reunion groups. The class of '51 spent hours reviewing their years since graduation and had great fellowship. Joel Kettenring led the Sunday morning worship service.

Larry and Patty Puckett receive their Alumni of the Year award from Alumni Association President Michael Loftin.

6 selected honorary alumni

During Homecoming activities six honorary alumni were named. The Alumni Association Executive Committee has the opportunity to name honorary alumni and this year chose six to be so honored.

Some of the criteria for selection include support of the college, recruiting of students, volunteer service on behalf of the college and prayerful support.

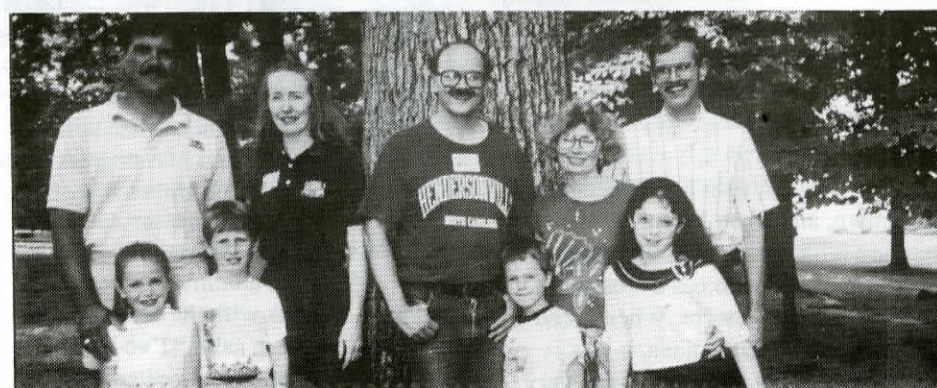

The following persons were named this year: Dr. William Brown, Mrs. Lynne Brown, Dr. Gary Phillips, Mr. Morris Crabtree, Mrs. Sue Crabtree and Mrs. Jane Ardelean.

The Quality of Faithfulness

By Herman Shakespeare (A bona fide transcript recorded by R.M. Cornelius, legal stenographer, College of Bryan, and with apologies to Portia in The Merchant of Venice)

The faithfulness of alumni is not strain'd
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place we know as Bryan Hill.
It blesseth them that give and them that get.
In these alums we honor here this night,
It was enthroned from early college days
And seen in life and student leadership.
Then as Admissions counselors it shone
And was resumed when legal studies ceased,
And they did move from Tennessee west to east.
It did not stop though children four arrived,
And church and city calls for leaders came Along with jurisprudence's summons all.
Their faithfulness was seen when he did serve
As President of Bryan's alumni host
And then came on the College Trustee Board.
As Lion Hunter they recruited well
And made so many trips from Cleveland's home,
They kept Blythe Ferry solvent and afloat.
True faithfulness, like mercy, Shakespeare said:
"It is an attribute to God Himself."
And so we honor Christ when giving a cheer
To Larry and Patty Puckett - Alumni of the Year!

-Adapted from William Shakespeare, The Merchant of Venice, Act IV, scene i, lines 184-205.

Director's Corner

Make plans to attend your alumni weekend

The class of '86, along with many offspring, had an excellent representation of their class at Homecoming '91. In addition to lunch at the Jahnckes on the mountain they had slides of their class and Senior Chapel.

Let me encourage the class of '82, (Alumni Weekend, July 24-26, 10-year reunion) and the class of '87, (Homecoming, Oct. 2-3, 5-year reunion) to start planning now for an organized and exciting reunion.

The Alumni 1-4-1 Challenge is off to a good start. Giving is about 9 percent ahead of last year at this time. If you haven't sent your gift in yet, why not do it today?

When you visit campus please stop by the Alumni Office so we can update our data. Please send in your news and pictures for LION TRACKS.

Admissions is having their name harvest. If you have any names to suggest as potential students please send them to us or Admissions.

EDWARD '39 and JOYCE (HIRSCHY) '40 deROSSET were honored by their children and other relatives and friends on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary in an evening dinner celebration at Evans City, PA, on August 5. Their children are KARIN TRAYLOR '64, who is an administrative assistant at Bryan, now in her 28th year; ROSALIE de ROSSET '69, a faculty member at Moody Bible Institute and a trustee of Bryan College; and sons Edward and Fred. Ed's brother, David (now 82), and his wife, Dorothy, came from New Jersey; and his brother JOHN (80) x'37 and wife, Clara, came from South Carolina. The deRossets continue to make their retirement home in Evans City.

DANIEL '41 and Eleanor HIRSCHY also celebrated their 50th anniversary in Evans City, PA, at a Sunday night reception on August 4 for the two couples (Edward de Rossets) at the Baptist Church and by their family celebration on August 6 in the Hirschy Building of the church. Their four daughters and families honored them with a display of pictures representing each of the fifty years of their married life. The Hirschys live in Waterville, ME, where Dan is missionary pastor under Baptist Mid-Missions.

EDDIE '46 and EILEEN (GOODMAN) '46 MILLER directed the ministry of a group of students serving with TEEN Mission in the area of Belem, Brazil. They were involved in evangelism on a boat, showing films at night and distributing tracts and selling Bibles during the day. Half of the team will minister similarly on the highway using a van. They are also seeking to inaugurate a new church building in a Belem suburb, where there are about 4,500 homes being built.

GEORGE '48 and ALICE (NORTHROP) '45 BIRCH have been busy at their home in Chattanooga, TN, grading the Source of Light correspondence courses, including many from prisoners. George had a three-week hospitalization to correct an intestinal problem and the thrombophlebitis that developed there in his legs. He may need to have surgery but hopes to find complete healing at home to avoid surgery.

They live in the lower level of the home they share with MARK '72 and NANCY (BIRCH) '70 LONGNECKER.

South Pittsburg, TN, lost her husband, Ted, on July 14 through heart failure during his recovery from a bad burn received on July 4.

LEONARD MEZNAR '52 left Columbia, SC, on April 1 to return to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. His wife, DONA (BLAINE) x'53, is staying in Columbia near their daughter JOAN MEZNAR '78, who is assistant professor of history at the University of South Carolina. Their son, MARTY '82 and his wife, LINDA (ROSS) '82, also live in Columbia, where Marty is a graduate assistant in the graduate division of the University of South Carolina. Leonard returned to South Carolina in July when a new missionary couple came to Rio to take up the pastoral ministry in the church on a permanent basis.

JACK LACEY '52 and his family are enjoying their location and home in Missoula, MT, with its park, hills and snow covered peaks, even in July, with deer roaming in the yard which are delights for their three young sons-- Philip, Paul, and Luke. Jack recently ministered to Blackfeet Indians on their reservation through door-to-door visitation and home Bible studies. The whole family shares in a monthly service at a nursing home. Jack's son Mark visited them in February and then returned to North Star Bible Camp in Alaska where he works. JOHN '76, his eldest son, visited in June.

JIM '54 and JUNE (ZEHRUNG) '53 DICKSON have returned to Oxnard, CA, to make their permanent home since Jim is retired from the Navy. Jim is preaching temporarily at Santa Maria and is also umpiring softball and volleyball.

LEWIS '54 and HARRIETTE (STAHNKE) '55 RICHARDS are living in Port Orchard, WA, where Harriette is selling real estate. Lewis has had to leave the pastorate because of several heart attacks.

WILBUR PICKERING '56, who has served with Wycliffe for 25 years, has for the last two years been president of the Majority-Text Society, and was to leave for Brazil in July to teach at the Brazilian Seminary. He and his wife, Ida Lou, have two daughters--Candace (Mrs. Dan Bell), who is in Christian camping near El Cajon, CA; and Karis, who is a senior at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, TX.

DELORES (YOCKEY) '56 and Fred PLASTOW are grateful for the Arab Christians whom the Lord has sent to their location in Malaga, Spain, for two months. During the first half of August a Bible School was planned in Spain for North Africans who have made a decision for Christ and desire to be involved in intensive Bible studies. Last year 15 came to the summer school. This year 45 were registered by July. The Plastows plan to arrive in the U.S. for furlough and deputation October 16. Fred has been invited to teach some mission classes at the Moody Bible Institute during the semester beginning in January. The Plastows will be "missionaries-in-residence," living at the school which gives them opportunity to have contact with students who are interested in missions.

EVERETT '56 and FAITH '60 BOYCE completed a year of ministry with Everett serving as administrator at the D & D Missionary Homes in St. Petersburg, FL. They are continuing to live at their D & D home, but they are returning to International student ministry with the invitation to Everett to become a member of the staff of the Association of Christian Ministries to Internationals (ACMI), as a "ministry consultant." This is a part-time commitment to an organization that Everett helped to organize in 1981. Faith has been doing some tutoring with learning disabled children. She has accepted a position for the current school year with a Christian school as a Learning Disabilities Therapist.

DAVID '57 and KAY (TEMPLE) '55 HENRY have moved back to Fairbanks, AK, after serving an interim pastorate in Galena. They were grateful to have four people give testimony through baptism in the "muddy, cold, Yukon River by their home" in order "to be baptized in the river just like Jesus was." They remember one of these four as a little girl in Koyukuk, where they lived for four years in the 60's. Dave has been asked to head up the "follow-up" committee for the Tom Claus Crusade in Fairbanks on October 3-6. Tom is a Mohawk Indian evangelist. The Henrys are now serving with InterAct Ministries, which has headquarters in Boring, OR.

RACHAEL O'MERA '58 has moved to Dallas, WI, to assist the pastor by preaching on Sunday evenings, teaching the teen Sunday school class, and co-leading the youth group. The town claims 477 people and "compares in no way to its Dallas, TX, counterpart. Rachael still helps her brother with his crops and does the farm chores when he is away. She also assists a lady who had a broken knee.

KENT x'63 and Willina LUEB spent March and April in the States visiting family and friends, including son Joel. In May they returned to their home and ministry in Holland under Hands to Serve mission. In June their son Jonathan and his wife presented them with a grandson. Recently Kent broke his collar bone.

JANET CLAYCOMB '64 had seven weeks of ministry in Vacation Bible Schools this past summer in Jamaica. She will continue her Bible teaching in the high school in St. Mary after a four-week rest period to help stabilize her blood pressure and renew her otherwise good health.

JEAN (GREEN) WEIR '64, retired business education teacher from Red Bank High School (TN), left July 15 for the eastern Caribbean where she will work for two years as a Peace Corps Volunteer. Jean taught business education in Hamilton and Rhea Counties for 23 years. She will have six weeks of training on the islands of St. Vincent and St. Lucia learning the local culture which will aid her in her teaching.

D. G. HAASE x'67, missionary teacher with Africa Inland Mission, anticipated a summer schedule that would include a visit to the coast and a trip to Zanzibar, an island off the coast of Tanzania, which was the center for the East African Slave trade. At the beginning of the last semester, D.G. drove the Rift Valley Academy choir on a long weekend singing tour. They recorded for Voice of Kenya radio. D.G. has been sponsor for a group of eight R.V.A. students who visit an orphanage to assist with a Bible story, Bible memorization, and playtime.

RICK '73 and MARILYN (CRANDALL) '70 SPEECE are approaching the end of their third four-year term in Papua New Guinea as Bible translators with Wycliffe. They plan for furlough beginning on December 12. Last June Rick taught a course on the principles of translation to a group of national translators from different provinces and their expatriate advisors from six different countries.

PEG (DRIVER) '72 and Tom KILE were scheduled to arrive in the States on July 23 to make their furlough home in Minneapolis, MN, accompanied by their daughters, Diana, who completed her high school work just before they left Mombasa, Kenya, and Esther, 15. Diana is a freshman at Bryan College.

TOM RUSSELL '74 and his wife, Cindy, live in Mobile, AL, where Tom is teaching at Faith Academy Christian School. This year Tom has stepped out of a varsity football coaching position to work into a junior high administrative position. The Russells have two children--Candi, 13; and Jody, 10.

AL GIVENS '75 is head volleyball coach of the Texas A&M Lady Aggies. Although they have never won the SWC title, Coach Givens feels that his team has a good chance this year. Al has been coaching the lady Aggies for 6 years. He earned his Master's from North Arizona in 1983.

TERRI (RICH) '75 and Rick HERR were making plans to return to Colombia on August 28 to renew their ministry with Wycliffe. Rick will be joining his colleagues in the radio department and Terri will be teaching again. Their one-year furlough was lengthened to three years to accommodate the adoption of their son, Benjamin, and to care for his medical needs which included the installation of a shunt in January 1990 and its removal a few months later. His health has improved so no shunt is now necessary and his adoption papers have been finalized.

Nard and SANDY (NEUMANN) '75 PUGYAO have sought the Lord's direction regarding their ministry and have concluded that staying at the Moody Aviation school in Elizabethton, TN, and buying a home there was His answer. In May they moved into a remodeled house. Sandy helps at their Chalet Retreat and is working on an art course after finishing a writing course, in addition to caring for their family with their sons, Steven and PJ.

GARY SIEFERS '75 was glad for a little release from school pressure during the summer to have more family time with his wife, Cheryl, and their children--Andrew, 16; Anna, 2; and Adrienne, 7. He continues to be the director of the American Christian International Academy in Cascais, Portugal. Last summer he studied Portuguese. He welcomes a full-time secretary for the first summer since they have been there in 5-1/2 years.

MARSHALL '75 and SARAH (TAYLOR) '76 PETERSON announce the birth of their fourth child, Benjamin Marshall Taylor, on July 15 in Germany. Marshall's battalion will be moving north within a few months.

BETH (SNEED) '75 PRICE and her husband, Larry, announce the birth of their second child, Matthew Larry, born on April 18 in Florence, SC. Matthew joins a sister, Allyson, who is 4.

TOM SMITH, JR., '75 lives in Greenville, SC, and is employed as a sales representative for Sam's Wholesale Club, which is a division of Wal-Mart stores. He is also with the air force reserves.

GWEN (WALTON) HARTMAN x'76 is teaching school in Athens, GA, where her husband, Steve, is minister of music at Green Acres Baptist Church.

TOM '76 and TAMMY (NIXON) x'79 POTTER live on Sand Mountain in Trenton, GA. Last year Tom was awarded the designation, Fellow, Life Management Institute (FLMI), after passing a series of 10 exams related to life and health insurance, and in May 1991, he passed the CPA exam. Tom is employed at Provident Life and Accident Insurance Company in Chattanooga and recently took a new job in the Group Department as a Group Pricing Analyst. He and Tammy have three children--Amanda, 9; Erin, 5; and Ryan, 2. A recent issue of USA Today stated that no matter how bad the yields on money funds or certificates of deposit may seem, they can always get worse, at least that is what the experts say. The average money market mutual fund is now yielding a skinny 5.02%—down from 7.48% a year ago. In fact, the average yield is at its lowest level in more than 14 years, according to IBC/Donoghue's Money Fund Report newsletter. Bank CD yields are also continuing their downward plunge—with one-year CD's yielding just 5.52%.

Bryan's Gift Annuity plan may just be the answer—with guaranteed lifetime income rates up to 14%! For more information just return the coupon below. We will be happy to provide details on how a Bryan Gift Annuity can benefit you and the college—with no obligation, of course.

Laura was graduated from Bryan in 1987 with a degree in English, and returns to the hill after working in church administration for the past two years. Before that, she worked in journalism for two years.

"I came back because I was considering continuing my education and wanted to pursue a degree in Library Science," she said. "I thought this would give me an opportunity to get good experience"

While she is working at the library, she also is taking education courses at Bryan because she wants to become a school librarian and that requires a teaching certificate as well as a professional degree.

Dee Mooney, who became the controller in the business office June 1. She is a graduate of Baylor University with a BBA degree in accounting. She holds a CPA license in Florida and worked in Texas as well as Florida before moving with her family to Dayton.

Mrs. Mooney was controller at Palm Beach Atlantic University in Florida when she accepted the position at Bryan. Michele Short, accounts payable clerk in the business office, knew Mrs. Mooney and recommended her when the position came open.

She and her husband, Tim, wanted to move from South Florida, and were looking into graduate programs in the Carolinas and Tennessee for him when the call came from Bryan."

"We sat down and made a list of what we wanted, and when we looked here, like it says in Ephesians 3:20, it was 'exceedingly abundantly above all we could ask or think.'"

In addition to Palm Beach Atlantic, Mrs. Mooney has worked for Ryder Systems and an accounting firm and has taught accounting seminars.
